World History & Geography Extended High School Content Expectations

GRADE 11

This document includes the social studies High School Content Expectations (HSCEs) taken from the Michigan Department of Education's document, entitled Social Studies High School Content Expectations (V.10/07). It also shows how Michigan educators extended the HSCEs for the student population taking the MI-Access Functional Independence (FI) social studies assessments.

HOW TO USE THE THIS DOCUMENT
High School Content Expectation	Gen. Ed.	FI	Key Concepts	Extended HSCE
This column shows the original HSCEs. Each HSCE has a code, such as W4.1.2. Using this code as an example, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>W = the standard category or discipline (in this case World History and Geography),</li> <li>4 = the strand,</li> <li>1 = the standard, and</li> <li>2 = the expectation.</li> </ul> NOTE: HSCEs provide a set of clear and rigorous expectations for all students, and provide teachers with clearly defined statements of what students should know and be able to do in certain content areas as they progress through school.	This column indicates the level at which the HSCE is assessed for the general education population, as indicated in the Social Studies Alignment Project Clarification Document. It will either have a “C” for “classroom and district level,” or an “S” for “classroom, district, and state level.” Only the HSCEs assessed at the state level were extended for the FI population.	This column indicates the level at which the extended HSCE (EHSCE) is assessed for the FI population. If this column has an “S,” it means the EHSCE is state assessable. If it has an “NA,” it either means (1) the original HSCE was classroom/district assessable and, therefore, was not extended for the FI population, or (2) the educators involved in the extension process determined it was not appropriate to assess the FI population on the HSCE at the state level, even after extension. In these instances, “NA” will also appear in the “Key Concepts” and “Extended HSCE” columns.	This column includes the key concepts measured by the EHSCE. To prepare this information, Michigan educators first reviewed the “Sample Responses to the Focus Questions” in the Social Studies Alignment Project Clarification Document and used that information to craft similar statements related specifically to the HSCE as extended.	This column contains the EHSCE as defined by Michigan educators. It reflects their best judgment regarding how the original, state-assessable HSCE should be reduced in depth, breadth, and complexity for the FI population. Each EHSCE in this column has a unique code, such as W.4.FI.11.EH1.2. Using this code as an example, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>W = the standard category or discipline (in this case World History and Geography),</li> <li>4 = the strand,</li> <li>FI = the MI-Access population being assessed,</li> <li>11 = the grade assessed,</li> <li>EH = extended HSCE,</li> <li>1 = the standard, and</li> <li>2 = the expectation.</li> </ul> The coding was designed to reflect both the original social studies HSCE coding and coding for the existing MI-Access EHSCEs or EBs for English language arts, mathematics, and science

WHG ERA 4—EXPANDING AND INTENSIFIED HEMISPHERIC INTERACTIONS (300 – 1500 C.E./A.D.)
W4.1 Cross-temporal or Global Expectations  Analyze important hemispheric interactions and temporal developments during an era of increasing regional power, religious expansion, and the collapse of some empires.
W4.1.1 Crisis in the Classical World – Explain the responses to common forces of change that led to the ultimate collapse of classical empires and discuss the consequences of their collapse. (See 4.3.3; 4.3.4, 4.3.5)	C	NA	NA	NA
W4.1.2 World Religions – Using historical and modern maps and other documents, analyze the continuing spread of major world religions during this era and describe encounters between religious groups including <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Islam and Christianity (Roman Catholic and Orthodox) - increased trade and the Crusades</li> <li>Islam and Hinduism in South Asia (See 5.3.3)</li> <li>continuing tensions between Catholic and Orthodox Christianity</li> </ul> (National Geographic Standard 10, p.203)	S	S	Different religions—such as Buddhism, Christianity, Confucianism, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism, and so forth—are practiced throughout the world. It is important to understand when and where these world religions started, how they spread, and where they are practiced today.  For example, Islam is a major world religion that originated in the Middle East and spread throughout the world. It is practiced in many places today, including the United States and Michigan.	W.4.FI.11.EH1.2 Demonstrate an understanding that different religions started in specific places, spread (largely due to increased oceanic travel, religious intolerance, and increased trade), and now are practiced throughout the world. Basic maps, tables, charts, or other documents may be used.

W4.1.3 Trade Networks and Contacts – Analyze the development, interdependence, specialization, and importance of interregional trading systems both within and between societies including <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>land-based routes across the Sahara, Eurasia, and Europe</li> <li>water-based routes across the Indian Ocean, Persian Gulf, South China Sea, Red and Mediterranean Seas</li> </ul> (National Geography Standard 11, p.206)	S	S	Societies trade for a number of reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>to gain access to needed goods/products;</li> <li>to gain access to new and different goods, services, and ideas; and</li> <li>for financial gain.</li> </ul> Trade played a key role in the development of the world, because as it increased and expanded, societies learned more about each other and adopted or rebelled against each other's ideas and ways of living.	W.4.FI.11.EH1.3 Identify one or more reasons why societies trade.
W4.2 Interregional or Comparative Expectations  Analyze and compare important hemispheric interactions and cross-regional developments, including the growth and consequences of an interregional system of communication, trade, and culture exchange during an era of increasing regional power and religious expansion.
W4.2.1 Growth of Islam and Dar al-Islam [A country, territory, land, or abode where Muslim sovereignty prevails] – Identify and explain the origins and expansion of Islam and the creation of the Islamic Empire including <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>the founding geographic extent of Muslim empires and the artistic, scientific, technological, and economic features of Muslim society</li> <li>diverse religious traditions of Islam - Sunni, Shi'a/Shi'ite, Sufi</li> <li>role of Dar al-Islam as a cultural, political, and economic force in Afro-Eurasia</li> <li>the caliphate as both a religious and political institution, and the persistence of other traditions in the Arab World including Christianity</li> </ul> (National Geography Standard 10, p.203)	S	S	See W.4.FI.11.EH1.2. W4.2.3 The Plague – Using historical and modern maps and other evidence, explain the causes and spread of the Plague and analyze demographic, economic, social, and political consequences of this pandemic. (See 4.3.5) ( National Geography Standard 15, p.215 )	S	S	When people began living in larger settlements and cities, they were in much closer proximity to one another, which made it easier for disease to spread. In addition, public health and sanitation were poor, which exacerbated the problem. Increased trade meant that diseases spread not only within cities, but also across entire countries and continents, usually via trade routes. The Plague, or Black Death, was one of the most serious epidemics of all time. It affected people from all social and economic strata. The effects included a dramatic decrease in population and disruption of economic activities, such as farming and trade.	W.4.FI.11.EH2.3 Demonstrate an understanding of the effects that diseases and epidemics (such as the Plague) have on society. W6.1 Global or Cross-temporal Expectations
Evaluate the causes, characteristics, and consequences of revolutions of the intellectual, political and economic structures in an era of increasing global trade and consolidations of power.
W6.1.1 Global Revolutions – Analyze the causes and global consequences of major political and industrial revolutions focusing on changes in relative political and military power, economic production, and commerce. (See 6.2.1; 6.2.3; 6.3.1) ( National Geography Standard 13, p.210 ).	S	S	A revolution is generally defined as a fundamental shift or change in power or organizational structure. Among other things, a revolution can be <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• political (where the government is replaced or changed in some significant way, such as in the American or French Revolutions);</li> <li>• economic (where the basis of an economy shifts, such as in the Industrial Revolution);</li> <li>• social (where there is a significant change in society, such as the Civil Rights Movement); or</li> <li>• some combination of the above.</li> </ul> Regardless of the impetus for a revolution, it usually results in dramatic political, economic, and/or social change.	W.6.FI.11.EH1.1 Demonstrate an understanding of revolution and/or recognize that revolutions lead to political, economic, and social change.

W6.1.2 World-wide Migrations and Population Changes – Analyze the causes and consequences of shifts in world population and major patterns of long-distance migrations of Europeans, Africans, and Asians during this era, including the impact of industrialism, imperialism, changing diets, and scientific advances on worldwide demographic trends. (National Geographic Standard 9, p. 201).	S	S	Population increases and decreases for a number of reasons. For example, population tends to increase when people have access to healthier foods, better health care (medicine), better sanitation, technological innovations, and employment. Similarly, migration, or where people choose to live, shifts for a number of reasons. People often move away from their homes during times of war and drought or when there is a shortage of jobs. On the other hand, people tend to move to places where there are more opportunities for employment, where there is greater access to resources, and where there is the promise of freedom. It is important to understand the factors that contribute to changes in population, the effects that migration has on societies, and the connections between the two. For example, it was the availability of labor in cities (which resulted from migration from rural areas to urban areas) that created a favorable environment for the Industrial Revolution (i.e., easy access to natural resources, labor, and capital in one place). Another example might be the invention of the microscope (a technological innovation), which increased interest in the study of diseases and their causes. That, in turn, enabled more children to survive childhood and increased life expectancy, both of which resulted in an increase in population.	W.6.FI.11.EH1.2 Demonstrate an understanding of one or more of the causes and/or consequences of worldwide population changes and migration.

W6.1.4 Changes in Economic and Political Systems – Compare the emerging economic and political systems (industrialism and democracy) with the economic and political systems of the previous era (agriculture and absolutism). (See 5.3.5)	S	S	Societies based on industry and agriculture differ in several important ways. Industrial-based societies are characterized by large urban populations working mostly specialized jobs in factories to produce goods and services for others. Agricultural-based societies, on the other hand, are characterized by rural populations working mostly on farms to produce goods for themselves and for market.	W.6.FI.11.EH1.4 Demonstrate a basic understanding of agricultural-based societies and/or industrial-based societies.
W6.1.5 Interpreting Europe’s Increasing Global Power – Describe Europe’s increasing global power between 1500 and 1900, and evaluate the merits of the argument that this rise was caused by factors internal to Europe (e.g., Renaissance, Reformation, demographic, economic, and social changes) or factors external to Europe (e.g., decline of Mughal and Ottoman empires and the decreasing engagement of China and Japan in global interactions). (See 6.3.1; 6.3.2; 5.3.2) ( National Geographic Standard 13, p. 210 )	S	S	Europe’s rise to global power between 1500 and 1900 had several important effects on western civilization, including <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• increased interest in the arts and sciences;</li> <li>• the industrialization of Europe and the movement to urban centers;</li> <li>• greater questioning of authority;</li> <li>• increased population;</li> <li>• the spread of European languages, customs, and traditions; and</li> <li>• the growth of some empires and the decline of others.</li> </ul>	W.6.FI.11.EH1.5 Demonstrate an understanding of Europe’s influence on western civilization from 1500 to 1900.
